Pan Am Jets Now Girdle The Globe

On October 10 Pan American World Airways established the first jet airmail service around the world. There was insufficient time to advise collectors of this new service—and very little time for the firm's postal service to prepare covers for the flight.

However, according to Howard A. Brooks of this department, Pan Am was able to have covers dispatched from New York to San Francisco and also from San Francisco to New York. The former are postmarked at 5 p.m. October 10 and backstamped in San Francisco 8:30 a.m. October 13. The other covers are postmarked at 8 p.m. October 10 at San Francisco, and backstamped at 10 a.m. October 13 at New York.

San Francisco to New York covers also bear a backstamp by the airport post office in Tokyo since there was a change of jet airplanes at Tokyo. All covers bear 25c airmail postage stamps. They are addressed to Pan American World Airways, 135 E. 42nd St., New York 17, N. Y., and have been cacheted by that office.

In view of the short notice, the firm incurred considerable expense in preparing the covers for dispatch. It is necessary, therefore, to charge 50c each or $1 for the set of two covers, New York to San Francisco and San Francisco to New York.

Orders for one or two sets of these covers will be completed first; then orders for more than one or two sets will be filled; and thereafter individual covers will be sold.

Collectors may send their remittances to the Philatelic Dept., Pan American World Airways, 28-19 Bridge Plaza N., Long Island City 1, N. Y. They should include an addressed envelope in which to return the first flight covers, which measure 3 1/2 by 6 1/2 inches. Pan Am will pay the return postage. Checks and money orders should be made payable to Pan American World Airways.

Sweden's Ascendancy As World Power In 17th Century Led To Founding Colonies In America

Skans Torsten Nilsson
Deputy Director, Swedish Post Office Museum

According to modern historians, the rise of Sweden to the position of a great power in 17th century Europe, was to a great extent founded on the production of and trade in copper. Following Sweden's entry into the Thirty Years' War, the steadily increasing want of money necessitated an intensified search for new markets for the copper. It was in this connection that the idea of founding Trans-Atlantic colonies was conceived.

After the death of Gustaf II Adolf in 1632, his no more than six-year-old daughter, Kristina, ascended the throne of Sweden. The ruling of the country was left in the hands of a tutelary government headed by Sweden's foremost statesman of all times, Chancellor of State, Axel Oxenstierna.

Concerning new markets for the copper, the Swedish envoy to the Netherlands at an early stage had entered into negotiations with various Dutch merchants regarding export of copper to the West Indies.

With one of these merchants, Samuel Blommaert, of Amsterdam, Axel Oxenstierna himself negotiated in the summer 1635. In the fall, in the same year, Peter Minuit entered the scene.

Minuit was born at Wesel on the Rhine in the early part of the 1580th century. He moved to Amsterdam, however, and in the year 1625 he was appointed Governor of the Colony New Netherlands, but was recalled in 1632. Minuit possessed a thorough knowledge of the eastern coast of North America, in particular (Continued on page 10)

Czechoslovakia's Patriot And Statesman Is Sixth Figure So Honored; '60 Total Now At 19

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has announced that the sixth of the "Champions of Liberty" commemorative issues will honor Thomas G. Masaryk, founder and first president of Czechoslovakia. As in the past, these stamps will be issued in two denominations, 4c for first-class domestic postage, and 8c for first-class international surface mail.

The Masaryk "Champion of Liberty" stamps will be first placed on sale at Washington, D. C. on March 7, 1960, the 110th anniversary of the subject's birth. Details as to design and colors will be announced later.

Masaryk, of Czech and Slovak parentage, rose from humble origin to become a respected professor of philosophy at Charles University in Prague, and a representative of his people in the Austrian parliament while the Czech and Slovak lands were part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

He believed that cultural nationalism in the fields of history, folklore, literature, music and art would not reach fulfillment unless his people also enjoyed political independence.

During World War I, with the backing of dedicated leaders who remained in Prague, and the assistance in Paris of Eduard Benes, a Czech, and Milan Stefanik, a Slovak, Masaryk led the movement for an independent Czechoslovakia.

His efforts in uniting Czechs and Slovaks abroad, in mustering military units of his countrymen, in arousing world-wide public opinion, and in gaining diplomatic support were crowned with success on October 28, 1918, when the Czechoslovak National Committee in Prague issued and made effective a declaration of Czechoslovak independence. Shortly thereafter Masaryk was chosen first president of the new Republic.

Moon Rocket, 8 More From East Germany

A moon rocket single, a set of ten and a second single with tab are the latest offerings from East Germany. The Soviet rocket struck the lunar body September 13, and just eight days later the East German adhesive to note the event was released to the public.

A 20 pfennigs value in red, it shows the Soviet coat of arms, the moon, the trajectory of the space traveler, and descriptive text, after a design by Prof. E. R. Vogenauer of Berlin. No official first day covers were serviced.

October 6 brought a set of ten featuring various small designs superimposed over the lower third of the national flag. Printing is in red, black and gold; denominations are 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 40, 50, 60, and 70pf. and 1 Mark. The issue marks the tenth year of the government; it was designed by Lothar Grunewald of Erfurt.

The single stamp with tab arrived October 27, for the first death anniversary of Johannes R. Becher. This 20pf. item is red and blue, with Becher's portrait. The tab shows his signature and some lines of the national anthem in blue on a yellow background. Heinrich Ilgenfritz, Leipzig was the designer; all three issues were offset printed by the VEB Deutsche Wertpapierdruckerei, Leipzig. First day covers were serviced on the anniversary set and the Becher item.

BUREAU REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER 1959

A total of 140 stamp plates was canceled during September by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Most of these plates represented Postage Dues of the 1930 series, replaced by a new set this year; the 15c Certified Mail stamp of 1955; Special Deliveries of 1922, 1925, 1944 and 1954; and Special Handling adhesives of 1925 and 1928.

Plates 26457 and 26465, prepared for the 8c Ernst Reuter "Champion of Liberty" stamp, were canceled September 9 with no impressions having been made. Also canceled, without impressions, was master plate 26470 for the 15c international airmail stamp which will first be placed on sale November 20 at New York, N. Y.

Reuter plates sent to press during September were Nos. 26451, 26452, 26453 and 26454 for the 4c denomination and Nos. 26464 and 26466 for the 8c value. In the same month plates 26467 and 26471 for the 8c Reuter were assigned.

As a replacement for canceled 15c airmail master plate 26470, the Bureau assigned another master plate, No. 26472. Plates assigned during September for the actual printing of this stamp were Nos. 26482, 26483 and 26486.

Another master plate assigned during September was No. 26477 for the 4c George Washington "Credo of America" stamp, to be first placed on sale at Mount Vernon, Va. during January. Other plates assigned involved the 3c and 4c stamps of the 1954-59 regular postage series, and the 7c airmail of 1958.

Numbers assigned during September to plates for the printing of postage stamps are:

Liberty 3c regular, 400-subject plates, numbered 26480-81.

Liberty 4c regular, 400-subject plates, numbered 26473-74.

Liberty 4c coil, 432-subject plates, numbered 26478-79. 26484-85.

Liberty 4c booklet, 360-subject plates, numbered 26468-69.

"Credo of America", Washington, 4c commem, 200-subject plate (master plate), numbered 26477.

Ernst Reuter "Champion of Liberty" 8c commem, 288-subject plates numbered 26467, 26471.

Airmail 7c booklet, 360-subject plates, numbered 26475-76.

Airmail 15c 1959, 200-subject plates, numbered 26470 (master plate), 26472 (master plate), 26482-83, 26486.

The following plates were sent to press and printed from for the first time during September:

Liberty 4c coil, 384-subject plates, numbered 26383-84, 26395-96.

Ernst Reuter 4c "Champion of Liberty" commem, 280-subject plates, numbered 26451-52-53-54.

Ernst Reuter 8c "Champion of Liberty" commem, 288-subject plates, numbered 26464, 26466.

As previously stated, most of the 140 plates canceled during September were for the 1930 series of Postage Due stamps. While in some instances the numbers of impressions were small, none was unduly so in view of the particular stamp concerned, and many plates were canceled from which no impressions had ever been made.

The 8c Giori Liberty plate numbered 26231 had 40,393 impressions; $1 Presidential 25243 and 25244, just over 42,000 each; and $5 Postage Due 20159, 20160 and 20161, over 12,250 each. The low mark was set by 25c Special Handling plates 17101 and 17102, with only 8400 impressions each.

The following plates were canceled during August; those marked "x" had never been printed from:

Dedication Cachet For Pius XII Library

The Greater St. Louis Chapter of the Vatican Philatelic Society will sponsor a cachet for the dedication of the Pope Pius XII Library November 22.

A part of St. Louis University, this is the only memorial authorized by the late Pope before his death. It is the New World depository of the Vatican Microfilm Library—a huge undertaking that has over 850,000 feet of microfilm containing almost eleven million handwritten pages.

A pair of the 3c IGY commemorative of 1958 will be affixed to each envelope. This stamp was selected because the center design of two hands is from "The Creation of Man" by Michelangelo in the Sistine Chapel in the Vatican. It is thought most appropriate to use this stamp in conjunction with the dedication of the building housing the Vatican Film Library.

The cachet will be printed in two colors and will show a view of the Library. Peelable address labels will be used. Collectors are asked not to send their own envelopes. Orders with 15c per cover in coin may be sent to Robert J. Hutcheson, 6606 Odell Ave., St. Louis 39, Mo.; November 20 is deadline.

Guatemala Overprint For Coffee Centennial

The Guatemala Postmaster General has announced the October 26 release of a stamp to mark the centennial of the first exportation of that nation's coffee.

The overprint "1859 - CENTENARIO PRIMERA EXPORTACION DE CAFE - 1959" was applied to 100,000 copies of the 1956 dark brown and deep ultramarine 6c airmail, Scott's No. C213, the PMG stated.

New Commonwealth For George VI Field

On the market several weeks ahead of the original schedule is the eighth edition (1960-61) of "The Commonwealth Catalogue of King George VI Stamps" published in England. The early release was necessitated by the premature selling out of the preceding edition.

The Commonwealth is regarded as "the" catalog for specialists in the area covered, as it offers considerably more data on the varieties concerned than does any other volume. The publishers state also that prices are as accurate as a close study of both the British and American markets can establish them.

Numerous new varieties of recent discovery have been added since the last printing of two years ago, and the complete list of Canadian precancels has been revised to date. The 162-page hard cover book is printed on slick paper and well illustrated. It is $1.25 postpaid, from The Commonwealth Stamp Co., 7, Leather Lane, Liverpool, England.

Rubber City Club Show, Bourse November 21-22

The Rubber City Stamp Club's 40th anniversary stamp exhibition and bourse will be held at the Sheraton Hotel, Akron, Ohio, November 21-22.

Features of the exhibition will include competition for the Pockrandt Gold Award Cup given each year for the "Best of Show", a stamp auction, a philatelic window operated by the Post Office Department, and a precanceled division.

SCARCE TO RARE SETS OF THE WORLD AT EXTRAORDINARY DISCOUNTS

Perhaps some of you recognize this heading? In April 1957 we managed to select from our stock particular complete sets that could honestly be classified as scarce or rare. These choice sets were grouped into lots and amply described in our lists. Well, it wasn't long before the entire stock was depleted.

Our contracts throughout the world were immediately notified in an effort to procure new supplies. We did get some favorable replies, all very similar, with listings and prices for a number of better grade sets. There was, however, one "catch"; OUR ORIGINAL ASKING PRICE WOULD HAVE TO BE DOUBLED AND THEN WE WOULD BARELY MEET COSTS.

Now, after two years of continuous effort, we have finally succeeded. A number of our recent purchases include, to our delight, the very same quality sets we originally offered.

HERE'S WHY THE RESPONSE TO THIS LOT WILL BE JUST AS ENTHUSIASTIC AS IT WAS WHEN WE MADE OUR ORIGINAL OFFER:

1. All different sets with absolutely no duplication compose this lot.
2. Every set included is complete and 90% are in superb mint condition. The 10% fine used sets are the seldom seen, much desired issues everyone wants.
3. All parts of the world are represented with the highest value commemorative, airmail and semi-postal complete sets.
4. Many sets are from the most popular countries and are in great demand.
5. The total Scott catalog value is very high.
6. The actual current wholesale value of this lot according to the lists of the leading wholesalers is more than twice our price. This fact alone explains the popularity of this lot — better grade issues have never been offered at any appreciable discount from market prices.
7. Competitive retailers price these sets at approximately four times our prices; approval dealers at even higher prices.

OUR PRICE OF $15.00 IS HALF WHOLESALE — A QUARTER OF RETAIL

(Please note that it is impossible for us to make up selections that are exactly similar in composition, although all will represent the very same total value. Much of the material included does not exist in wholesale quantities.)

A TREMENDOUS OFFER OF ALL DIFFERENT COMPLETE COMMEMORATIVE SETS OF SOVIET RUSSIA

Here are some of the most popular, most colorful, most valuable complete commemorative sets issued in recent years.

We are breaking up these collections in representative lots, which include a great variety of colonies. Cape of Good Hope triangles, highest values and the scarcest issues are included. All lots also include Canada and Newfoundland issues which regularly sell at 1/2 catalog. These album pages mounted in Gibbons order, are beautiful to look at and have great strength per colony. Carl P. Rueth

One of our Colorado Springs collectors did some commenting by letter on various printing and production varieties which turn up from time to time and which for the most part are more than ordinarily valuable. His is certainly the off-beat appreciation of such material. He wrote —

"I am sometimes a bit skeptical about the printing of some items. I realize of course, that every collector has his own particular idea of what to, and what not to, collect, but for the life of me I can't help but wonder just exactly what the fact that a printer happened to make an error, adds to philatelic knowledge.

"I refer particularly to an item in the October 19 edition in the U. S. Notes column about a double overprint on a United Nations precancel. To me it means only that the printer was careless and that is the only significant thing about it. The article states that the block came from a full pane.

"Why then does it become imperative that a plating job is necessary? Inasmuch as the owner has a full pane it seems to me that just simple old arithmetic, that there are exactly fifty stamps in the pane. Is this of such world-shaking significance that it will eventually shake the entire world of philately?"

I suppose the search of miscues goes on around the clock for one big reason only—MONEY! And since people are possessed of human nature, they want to be a little bit better, own something a little bit better, or have a social standing a little bit better than their neighbors. Some folks are obnoxious in this quest while most are rather calm and easy-going about it.

Having an "error" gives one prestige among collectors. In most instances it also gives him something which can be converted into currency—a not unfavorable situation.

What makes the chase so interesting is the fact that all reputable postal administrations today have the strictest of security regulations concerning their stamps, coins, currency and negotiable paper. Every scrap of paper is accounted for so that miscues do not leave the government printing plant with an employee. Produced material is inspected several times over during the various processes with the "cripples" removed as the work progresses.

Under such conditions one feels that a rare accomplishment is his if he is fortunate in finding something unlike the rest of that particular family. I suppose it might be likened to winning on a longshot at the racetrack, or hitting the jackpot on a slot machine. Most normal people are greatly pleased with such breaks and get a thrill.

Other than this, as our letter-writer points out, these mistakes are just mistakes. However, I'll be tremendously happy with any and all I can uncover in a lifetime—and, I'm certain I have quite a lot of company in that feeling.

1. One of the subjects honored in the Famous Americans Series of 1940 was also honored by Canada with a commem. Who is this person?
2. One of the persons appearing on our stamps has been shown with and without glasses. Who?

A possible subject for a Champions of Liberty set in 1960 is Ignace Jan Paderewski whose 100th birth anniversary falls on November 6, 1960. This former chief of the Government of Poland, and world famous pianist, is well known to most of the 35 years and older citizens of the United States. In fact, many probably heard his excellent concerts during his years in the United States.

Paderewski deserves some philatelic recognition from this country whether it comes via a Champions of Liberty or a straight commem.

Also in the Champions field is William Tell, the legendary Swiss patriot who is said to have inspired his countrymen to throw off the Austrian rule. However there is some difficulty here inasmuch as the Swiss are not too certain that Tell was ever a real person. He is a revered legendary figure and symbol—he might even be the composite of several patriots—but as to definite certainty that he ever existed as a real person there is some doubt.

FOUR SPECIAL POSTAL MARKINGS and a hand-drawn cachet distinguish this October 1 first day cover of the 10 yen gold, blue and black Japanese commemorative marking the 350th anniversary of the founding of Nagoya City. The stamp features a golden dolphin with a white aerial view of the city in the background. The design was created by Minoru Hisano, with photogravure printing in a quantity of 12,000,000 examples, according to Dr. K. Hirano of Cambridge, Mass. who submitted the cover. He also explained that the cancellations, beginning at upper left are the regular strike for foreign mail, regular "sightseeing" design, special philatelic exhibition cancellation, and another special one for the city's 350th anniversary celebration.

Just in case anyone is ever able to be certain about this, and that he was a real man, a Champions stamp is in order.

Some of the fees for postal security are rather high and collectors are reluctant to spend the money when transmitting something of value. There is Certified Mail, for instance which costs 20c plus the postage fee on first-class mail. This will get the sending to the addressee if it is not lost in the delivery between towns, and between the post office and the point of delivery.

Of course, the same thing is almost as certain without the 20c Certified Mail fee, but the difference lies in the fact that the Post Office Department is supposed to be able to trace Certified Mail, and assure a recipient and sender that it was placed for delivery by the latter. There is no indemnity in case of loss. From the legal standpoint, it is of value only in establishing that a certain item was placed in the mails for delivery to the addressee.

Registered mail, if you buy more than the initial fifty cents worth, will provide indemnity in case of loss, within the limits of the fee paid. For fifty cents only, you get the same service as with Certified Mail but at 30c more! The United States registered mail fees are probably the highest in the world. Most other nations seem to be able to get along with from 50 per cent to 70 per cent less than what is charged by Uncle Sammy. What makes Uncle's service so high priced needs quite a bit of clarification by his boys in Washington.

If you just want proof that you placed a piece of mail in the post office you can buy such certification for 5c. You tell the clerk you want a Certificate of Mailing (Form 3817) which you fill in. It, your piece of mail properly prepaid, and a nickel handed to the clerk does the trick.

This latter is a simple and inexpensive way to prove you placed a mailable item in the care of the postal people.

Parcel Post can be insured at a rather reasonable figure. In fact, registered mail ought to come at near these same fees since according to postal employees it is guarded little more strictly than parcel post, first-class or certified mail.

It is possible you can save some fees if you know the ropes, and I don't mean cigars.

Reflections On The Issuing Of Swedish Postage Stamps

From the Address Given at the October 1958 Inauguration of the new Stockholm Philatelic Section, by

Erik Swartling

Director General, Post Office Department of Sweden

The relations between the Post Office Department and the stamp collectors have, it may be said, a philosophy of their own. Seen from one angle it could be maintained that it would be only natural if the Post Office acted as if there were no philatelists. Everybody ought to admit that there is some truth in this.

Probably no person of repute would regard it as being fair play, if the Post Office Department should intentionally put out misprints—yet there is more of a difference in degree than in kind between the production of misprints and the very strictly limited number of a certain stamp issue, or turning out unreasonably many new stamps, primarily to exploit the collectors. I suppose that the philatelists want a genuine object.

Erik Swartling
Director General
Post Office Department of Sweden

But the matter may also be seen from another angle, and I have often met people doing so. It is asserted that the department should act in a businesslike manner and always aim at the highest possible income. Why shouldn't the Post Office fully and heedlessly exploit a market craving for merchandise? The propositions made in this connection, however, are often contrary to fair business practice.

As usual, however, hardly any of the extreme viewpoints could be right. The truth is somewhere between. It is unrealistic to think that the Department should overlook the existence of stamp collectors, of which there is a lot, who are steadily increasing in number.

But it is not proper either, if the Post Office should go as far as to profiteer on the philatelists' interest of collecting. Interminable is the array of viewpoints which could be stressed; perhaps they are best illustrated by the high degree of uncoordinated policy in the postage stamp world which is conducted by the Post Office Departments the world over.

Within the Swedish Post Office Department we have endeavored to maintain a high standard in the production of postage stamps. Stamps are manufactured through steel engravings and we are prospering from the availability of very able engravers.

In the few cases when we have deviated from this distinguished method of production by artistic craftsmanship, the results have been not so very successful. From a postal viewpoint it may be said, that the engraved stamp is safe, as it is more difficult to counterfeit.

Primarily, however, engraving is connected with the demand for a standard, which perhaps by tradition has become associated with a government seal, and which should make a postage stamp distinguishable from an advertising sticker. Such a difference may of course be achieved also by other means than through the employment of engraving, as for instance, by the appearance given to the stamp. True enough this has in some cases been critically thinned out, when other production methods have been employed.

We have also endeavored to have leading artists draw and compose Sweden's stamps. That we stick to Swedish artists, however, ought to be correct. In the choice of artists, our artistic counsellors have been of great assistance, as even when drafts have been examined, color composition considered, and so on.

There is a considerable effort behind every new stamp, aiming at making it a quality product both in an artistic sense and from the manufacturing point of view. Stamps deserve to be judged—more than the case is now—by people of competence and less by people without such competence.

The way to go about it, which has been applied in the issuing of stamps in this country, automatically leads to a limitation in the issuing of postage stamps. At most we are making four or five new issues each year. The desire for new stamps, however, goes much further; nevertheless, there is no great risk that we might suffer from lack of subjects to such an extent that mushrooms would have to be resorted to.

That the technical resources cannot satisfy all wishes with regard to new stamps is a rather delicate problem. To meet them all would in my opinion also be to go beyond the limits of sound stamp issuing policy. We must however, often choose between different propositions, which are each well motivated.

Actually, it has a matter of "first come, first served", and the rest not getting served at all. This is not a good method of selecting, and the increasing interest in the stamp issues has brought up the question of new principles. So far, however, no proposal whatsoever has been made, but the question is being looked into.

It is obvious that the great interest among philatelists to collect serves as a stimulant to the issuing of stamps, no matter whether each new one may be motivated from a non-philatelic viewpoint. It is not an insignificant income the Post Office Department derives from serving the interest of collecting stamps, which in turn makes it unnecessary to limit the issuing of stamps for reasons of costs.

It is therefore a fact that we issue more stamps than we would have done, if there had been no stamp collectors. We have also established two postal institutions of particular interest to the stamp collectors.

One is the Postal Museum with its prominent collections. The other one is PFFS, or as its name is today and will be in the future, PFA (Postens Filateliavdelning, the Post Office Section for Philately) and its affiliates. PFA is an institution to serve the collectors. It also has a postal motivation, as it facilitates the work in the Post Office windows.

Most of the members of this audience know how it was in the old PFFS premises. At maximum pressure it has been terrible. I am seeing in front of me the long but friendly queue, winding itself up the staircase, and I wish to thank our patronizing stamp collectors for their patience with the insufficient facilities. I also wish to thank the personnel of PFFS for their great toleration with the unfavorable working conditions.

I trust that the new premises opening tomorrow will be put to good use and be to the enjoyment of both philatelists and our own personnel, and that they will increase our possibilities of assisting the philatelists.

Insufficient Notices On Five HPO Changes

Four recent changes in Highway Post Office services have been announced by the Post Office Department without sufficient time for giving due notice to the collecting public.

Last trips were scheduled for the Greenville, Anderson & Columbia, S. C. HPO and the Charleston & Augusta, Ga. run October 30-31. On November 1 Beville & McAllen, Texas HPO became Alice & McAllen.

A mere three-day notice was given on the new Boston-Portland route, and the same for the St. Paul & Worthington, Minn. system. Each began October 25, according to the National Highway Post Office Society's reporter.

Karl-Marx-Hof On New Austrian Stamp

Another value of the new regular issue of Austrian postage stamps was issued October 20, with validity from October 23, according to Edwin Mueller, 10 E. 40th St., New York 16, N. Y.

The 50 groschen item is blue black in color. It pictures a part of the "Karl-Marx-Hof" in Vienna, a communal housing project with 1400 apartments, located in the Heiligenstadt district of the city. It was built during 1926-30.

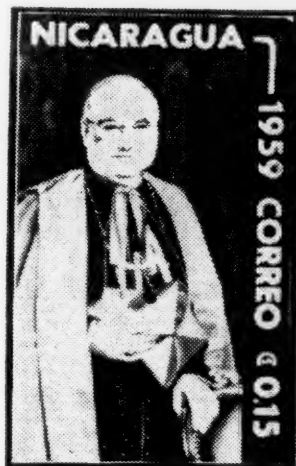

The new adhesive was designed by Prof. Hans Strohofer and offset printed by the Austrian State Printing Works in sheets of 100 subjects.

Drastic Changes In Colombia Mail

An unusual change in the operation of the airmail postal services in Colombia has just been announced by that nation, according to details submitted by the Orchid Stamp Co., Airbox 5823, Bogota, Colombia. The Post Office Department has entered into a new agreement with Aerovias Nacionales de Colombia governing the line's exclusive airmail service there.

Effective December 1, all airmail franking will be unified, and all current airmail stamps will be overprinted with a small plane and the word "Unificado" within its outline.

The stamps affected are Scott's Nos. 5c-C287, C293, C304; 10c-C231, C240, C301; 15c-C299, C302; 20c-C243, C300, C305; 25c-C303, C307, C308, C311, C313, C315; 30c-C244; 40c-C245; 50c-C247 (recently surcharged); 1 Peso-C316; 1.20P.-C317; 2P.-C250; 3P.-C251; 5P.-C252; and 10P.-C253.

Both the post offices and the airline will exchange stamps without the surcharge for the new overprinted varieties for an indefinite time, it is reported. Furthermore, the POD will stock sufficient supplies for collectors, to avoid any possible cornering or speculating in the many varieties being created.

To meet the new unified postage rates, the values of some adhesives now on order but not yet issued will be changed, H. A. Mussen, Sr. of the Orchid firm explained:

The Lincoln airman will be 5c instead of 50c. The 1.20P. flower will also be 5c, and the Humboldt 25c, 50c. and 1.20P. will be released as 35c, 1.30P. and 1.45P. Also, the 40th anniversary Avianca pair will be 35c and 60c, instead of the scheduled 25c and 50c.

These two, noting the anniversary of the first commercial flight by the Avianca line, will appear December 5, along with a souvenir sheet showing both designs but in the value of 1P. each, making the sheet 2P. Earlier—December 1—the Colombian Postal Centenary series will be released simultaneously with the overprinted airmails.

The Centenary set will consist of

E. Kehr To Address New York Women's Society

The next regular meeting of the Women's Philatelic Society of New York will be held November 19 at the Hotel Statler Hilton, 7th Ave. at 33rd St., New York City at 8 o'clock.

Ernst Kehr, stamp editor of the New York Herald Tribune, will be guest speaker. Visitors cordially welcome.

5, 10, 15, and 25c values for ordinary mail and 25c, 50c and 1.20P. airmails, plus an Extra Rapido 10c for international airmail. An accompanying souvenir sheet will be 5P.

"In the early part of November" some of the new sets honoring Simon Bolivar and Francisco de Paula Santander are to be released, Mr. Mussen continued. They will carry portraits of the famous men and pictures of the capitol in Bogota. These are being printed by the National Printing Office.

It is understood that the Ministry of Communications will make up especially designed, cacheted first day covers for all releases.

Under his administration (1918-1935) the Czechoslovak Republic, though beset by many internal and external difficulties, became a notable example of a modern democratic state, pursuing social progress through democratic methods. The new nation played a constructive role as a small participant in international affairs.

Postmaster General Summerfield said that: "The ties between Thomas Masaryk and the American people were especially strong. Masaryk married an American girl and took her family name, Garrigue, as his middle name. His visit to the United States in the summer of 1918 further heightened the unity of Americans of Czech and Slovak origin in support of the cause of Czechoslovak independence.

"Masaryk's presence in the United States also dramatized the cause of Czechoslovak independence before the American public and influenced the U. S. official position. Subsequently, the American public took a special interest in the newly created Czechoslovak Republic whose institutions were often patterned after American standards.

"Masaryk's long service in the cause of Czechoslovak independence and his master leadership in bringing it about made him truly the father of the Czechoslovak Republic. Today," he continued, "the Czech and Slovak peoples, while retaining in a formal sense the national independence for which he fought, do not have the internal democratic freedoms they once enjoyed.

"These stamps commemorating Thomas G. Masaryk as a 'Champion of Liberty' will thus mark not only the strong friendship of the peoples of the United States and Czechoslovakia, which Masaryk symbolized, but also their common aspirations for freedom."

Earlier "Champions of Liberty" postally recognized by the United States were: Ramon Magsaysay (1957); Simon Bolivar and Lajos Kossuth (1958); and Jose de San Martin and Ernst Reuter (1959). The first was a single 8c stamp; each of the other three issues was a 4c (internal rate) and 8c (overseas) pair. All 8c stamps were in three colors.

lar the land surrounding the Delaware River.

In an effort to exploit this proficiency of his, he approached Blommaert with a proposal of collaboration. They decided to promote the establishment of a Dutch-Swedish trading company, which should, under Swedish patronage, conduct trading on the Delaware River.

In an aide-memoire to Oxenstjerna dated Amsterdam, June 15, 1636, Minuit laid out the first plan of New Sweden, a name which was here mentioned for the first time. An expedition should be made to certain places in Virginia, New Netherlands, which should be taken in possession.

The Swedish Government should furnish soldiers to garrison a fortified position, and further, the Swedish Crown should grant the participants certain privileges, i.e. monopoly on the trade for 20 years, and exemption from customs duties for ten years. The capitalization of the venture should be half Dutch and half Swedish.

In accordance with Minuit's proposal, the New Sweden Company was formed, and in September 1637 we find Minuit in Gothenburg busy loading the two ships "Fagel Grip" and "Kalmare Nyckel", furnished by the Swedish Crown for the expedition.

The cargo comprised among other things several thousand yards of woollens and other fabric, some hundred axes, and hammers and knives.

There were also several dozen pipes, mirrors, gilt chain, rings, combs, earrings and other adornments, all intended for the trade with the Indians. Agricultural implements for the colonists, spades, pickaxes, etc. were of course also brought along.

Minuit was the leader of the expedition. Half of the ships' crew was Swedish and the other half Dutch. The accompanying soldiers, on the other hand, were all Swedish. Early in November the ships left Gothenburg. The instructions from the government to Minuit said that he should see that his men were treated well.

About March 15, 1638 the expedition reached Delaware Bay. It proceeded up the Delaware River to its tributary, Minquas Kill, and to the place where today the city of Wilmington is situated. Here they anchored and sounded a two-gun salute. Before long some chieftains with large retinues had gathered near the ships, and negotiations about purchase of land were taken up immediately.

On March 29 five chieftains, Mat-tahorn, Mitatsimint, Erupacken, Mahomen and Chiton were invited to the great-cabin on board "Kalmare Nyckel". They sold as much land upstream on both sides of the river as Minuit wanted.

A contract was made in Dutch and was interpreted to the chieftains who signed with their chosen marks, after which the documents were signed by Minuit and other prominent members of the expedition. After the completion of the purchase, everyone went ashore. The Swedish coat of arms was erected on a long pole and saluted by gunfire. The country was named New Sweden.

Shortly after the foundation of the colony, Minuit perished during a casual visit to the island St. Christopher. Very soon other difficulties appeared. It was hard to get colonists, and the government in the home country urged the lord-lieutenants and other officials to lend a hand. The lord-lieutenant of Alvsborg County was specially accredited with the responsibility of employing carpenters, blacksmiths, brick-makers and cabinet-makers.

Some of these should be married and willing to bring along their wives to cook, brew beer, and take care of the colonists laundry. When the influx of voluntary emigrants became too slow, it was decided to deport, with family and belongings, small offenders. As the first expeditions to the new colony ran at a considerable deficit, the Dutch financiers wanted to retire from the venture. In 1641 the Swedish Government bought the shares held by the Dutch.

A certain prosperity was entertained by New Sweden when Johan Printz became governor of the colony in 1642. He was born at Bottnaryd rectory in Smaland in 1592, and sponsored by Gustaf II Adolf. He, among other things, studied divinity at several universities: Griefswald, Leipzig, Wittenberg and Jena.

He returned to Sweden in 1625 after a very adventurous life around Europe, and joined the army with the Osterbotten Regiment, where he after some time reached the rank of major. In 1640, at that time colonel of the Vastgota Cavalry, he was surrounded in Chemnitz, and surrendered the town.

ing received the pass of General Baner, he was in 1641 court-martialed, was acquitted however, but was deprived of his command. Nevertheless, he was knighted in the following year before leaving for the colony of New Sweden as Governor.

Relatively soon after Printz's arrival, conditions improved. More new settlers arrived, and the trading with the Indians and the neighboring colonies was at times quite lively.

In the years before Printz's term as a governor ended, the colony was almost entirely left on its own by the Swedish Government, and for several years, Printz had no word from the home country. Many of the colonists became mutinous, some fled to neighboring colonies, and several returned to Sweden. Printz was accused of all kinds of encroachments and injustice.

The conditions in the colony deteriorated more and more, and in the beginning of October 1653, Printz left to return to Sweden, where he ended his days in 1663 as Provincial Governor of Jonkoping County.

As a government official, Printz was quite typical of Sweden's era as a great power, vigorous, violent and hot-tempered, demanding complete obedience of his subjects, but a "true patriot and her Majesty's loyal servant". The Indians accredited him with the name "the big Swede": he is known to have weighed about 400 lbs.

Three characteristics of Swedish booklet panes are illustrated by the above two examples of the July 28, 1920 Gustaf II Adolf commemorative. They show plate joint lines like those on United States coil stamps, and plate numbers in the top tab margin. Also, being from the early handmade booklets, they are perforated on at least one of the two outer vertical margins, as explained in last week's introductory article on Swedish booklet panes.

A Philatelic And Historical Study Of The Portrait Stamps Of Two Early Swedish Kings

Dr. Georg Mensinsky

The story of postal service in Sweden goes back to earlier times when only the King's and Government's official messages were sent from one part of the country to another by means of so-called "post runners" (Swedish: "brevdragare"). This first occasion of which the word "post", or "postal", (Swedish: "post") appeared in the Swedish language was probably in a royal edict dated May 17, 1556, and sent from Abo (Finnish: "Turku") on the southwest coast of Finland.

The idea of "general" postal service (that is, postal service for the general public) first occurs early in the seventeenth century and consists of an official letter addressed to the Chancellor of Sweden, Axel Oxenstierna. This letter was an answer to an official letter from the Swedish Government to Leenart Van Sorgen, the Swedish diplomatic agent in Hamburg, Germany.

In this letter, van Sorgen explains that the King of Sweden, through the establishment of a postal connection between Stockholm and Hamburg, can reach his relatives and envoys in all parts of Europe, as mail was despatched from Hamburg every week to Italy, Spain, France, England and through all Germany down to Bohemia, Silesia, Austria and Hungary.

Under normal conditions, a letter from Hamburg could reach the border of Sweden within five days. From Hamburg, a letter to Cologne took five days, to Frankfurt on the Main, Heidelberg or Prague eight days, to Paris, 13 days, to Lisbon 18 days and to Rome or Venice three weeks.

At the close of his letter, van Sorgen raises the question whether merchants, that is to say private parties, might also make use of the same postal service for the transport of correspondence.

From the above, we may conclude that at that time—that is, in the beginning of the year 1620—there was no Swedish postal service for the general public for mail between Sweden and Hamburg. However, as early as the end of July of the same year, a regular service for the carrying of letters once a week between Sweden and the city of Hamburg had been established.

This mail service was primarily designed for the transport of government and diplomatic mail, but for a fee private persons as well might use it. That such was the case is shown by a postage report which the postmaster in Hamburg, Hans Jacob Klainhans, made concerning the postal fees he had collected for the period July 28, 1620—July 15, 1621.

According to this report, there were 706 such letters sent from Hamburg to Stockholm during this first year. Letters transported in the opposite direction, that is from Stockholm to Hamburg were, according to the closing words of the report, very few in number.

In celebration of the 300th anniversary of this first general Swedish postal service, the Royal Postal Administration issued on July 28, 1920 a commemorative, the well-known 20 ore Gustaf II Adolf (Gustavus II Adolphus) stamp.

The original drawing for the stamp was executed by Prof. Olle Hjortzberg (1872-1959). He originally studied at the Academy of Art in Stockholm from 1892 to 1896 and thereafter for seven years abroad. From 1911 until 1937, he was professor of drawing at the Academy, and he was, as well, Director of the Academy from 1920 until 1941.

Prof. Hjortzberg did a large number of decorative paintings in the Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm and the Stockholm City Courthouse. He illustrated books, designed artistic placards and executed flower paintings which have won acclaim from artistically minded people in Sweden.

In addition to the Gustaf II Adolf stamp, Prof. Hjortzberg designed the 1920 Small Coat of Arms 3 ore stamp, the 1928 commemorative in honor of King Gustaf V's 70th birthday and the 1932 commemorative on the occasion of the 300th anniversary of the death of Gustaf II Adolf. Also the stamps issued for the 500-year jubilee of the Swedish Riksdag in 1935 and the set for the 300-year jubilee of the Royal Postal Administration in 1936.

The prototype for the 1920 Gustaf II Adolf stamp was a bust for which the King had sat as a model and which was done in 1632 by Georg Petel. This bronze bust is now in the National Museum in Stockholm.

It is inscribed: "Georg Petel ad. Viti Sculp. 1632" ("Sculptured by Georg Petel from the living model in 1632") and "Christof Neidhardt in Augsburg gos mich 1643" ("Christof Neidhardt of Augsburg cast me in 1643").

The stamp was produced at the Postal Administration's own printing plant by the steel engraving process. For printing stamps in this manner, special machines constructed by B. R. Stickney of Washington, D. C., had been purchased from the United States. The printing machine was a rotary press.

Three pairs of printing plates were made in 1920. The size of the issue was 5,625,800 of which 46,069,900 were perforated on two sides and 4,555,900 perforated on four sides.

"Plate join" signs do not appear on plate 1. The other plates bear the figures 0-1 and 2-3 in both upper and lower margins. In the case of stamps cut badly off center, the marginal figure may become visible to a greater or lesser extent in the margin of the stamp (as is the case with U. S. coils). Normally, it can only be seen in the margin above the perforation of stamps perforated on four sides (booklet stamps).

As regards nuances of color, the Gustaf II Adolf issue is one of the most interesting coil stamps. From an ultramarine-like dark blue, and greenish light blue, there occur, as well, many in-between shades. The explanation of these many nuances is that this stamp was printed in a number of installments, and it was extremely difficult to get the exact same color mixture on each occasion.

The first printing took place July 10-17, 1920 at which time 6,389,000 stamps were printed. The second printing was on August 4, 11 and 12 and included 827,500 stamps. The third was executed on August 28 and 31 and on September 1 and included 3,336,100 stamps.

No printing samples have been preserved in the Post Office's color and gum collection from these first printings. From September 2 on, however, color and gum samples of this stamp were preserved, and from these it is possible to ascertain that the ultramarine-like dark blue and the greenish light blue stamps were printed, for the most part, during December 1920, toward the end of the printing period for the stamp.

As there are intermediate shades in each nuance group, however, it is extremely difficult, if not impossible, to indicate with certainty the size of the respective groups.

The following characteristic nuances can be ascertained. The figures in brackets after the shades refer to intensity of color, the highest figure corresponding to the strongest. (Continued on page 13)

Paper—The stamps were printed on three different qualities of paper which may be referred to as A, B and Cx.

A: A hard paper without watermark of a yellow gray or blue gray shade and more or less pronounced mesh.

B: A paper without watermark and of a soft blanket-like and fairly porous texture. If the paper bears the watermark "Kungl. Postverket" (Royal Postal Authority), it is designated Bz.

Cx: A paper of soft porous texture with a watermark consisting of wavy lines which, seen from the back of the stamp, run from the lower left-hand corner up diagonally toward the right. If the paper also bears the watermark "Kungl. Postverket", it is designated Cxz.

Stamps on Cx paper are uncommon, and those on Cxz paper, especially if unused, are among the rarities.

Varieties. Two different plate defects occur, firstly a plate crack, and secondly a plate scar in the form of an upside-down comma. One stamp shows traces of a crack from the "F" in "GUSTAF" up to and in front of the ear, and shows a white patch between, and below, the "F" and the "I" in "GUSTAF II ADOLF". The stamp has a guide dot in the upper left-hand corner. The other (with a join to the right) shows in the margin below the "E" of "ore" a plate scar resembling a comma.

The Gustaf Vasa (Gustavus Vasa, or Gustavus I Vasa) stamps were issued to mark the 400th anniversary of Gustaf Vasa's war for the liberation of Sweden. The original design, which is in the Postal Museum in Stockholm, was executed by Einar Forseth. Values are 20, 110 and 1400.

this time at the Handicrafts Assn. School ("Slojdforeningens skola"). From 1912-1915, he studied at the Academy of Art in Stockholm. Between 1921 and 1923, he executed the mosaic decorations in the Gold Room in the Town Hall of Stockholm, an artistic achievement which stands as a monument to Swedish decorative art of the early 1920's.

He has also done monumental wall paintings, textiles and mosaics in such locations as The Royal Institute of Technology, the Concert Hall of Stockholm, the Eastman Institute, the Caroline Hospital and in a large number of churches and schools in different parts of Sweden.

Forseth's greatest contributions have been in the renewal of the art of staining glass windows, as for example in the choir windows of the Church of Maria in Halsingborg and in the church in Halmstad, and in the stained glass windows of the burial chapel of the Caroline Hospital in Stockholm.

A decorative task in miniature which became a specialty for Einar Forseth was the designing of postage stamps. He has drawn some of the artistically best stamps which have been issued by the Swedish Postal Administration. In addition to the Gustaf Vasa set, he designed the 1920 Lion type stamp, the 1933 commemorative to mark the 50th jubilee of the Post Office Savings Bank, and another for the 800th anniversary of Lund Cathedral in 1946.

Also the 1946 commemorative to mark the 100th anniversary of the birth of Alfred Nobel, the 1947 one for the 100th anniversary of the death of the Swedish poet and historian, E. G. Geijer, the jubilee stamp celebrating Gustaf V's 40th year as king of Sweden in 1947, and the special one issued on the occasion of Gustaf V's 90th birthday anniversary in 1948.

Einar Forseth has also done illustrations for books, as well as water colors and oil paintings. These have been mainly landscapes in great variety, inspired in part by his extensive travels throughout Europe and in Palestine, Egypt and Tunis. He is considered one of the foremost of modern Swedish painters.

In addition to the original accepted drawing for the Gustaf Vasa stamp which is in the possession of the Postal Museum in Stockholm, there exist some preliminary, proposed sketches. Some are in the Museum; others, including the one here shown, are privately owned.

The original engraving was made in the form of a master die, and only one pair of printing plates was made for each denomination of the issue.

The 200. of which 510,000 were issued is printed on either A, B or Bz paper. The stamps printed on A paper are relatively rare and often have a very characteristic grainy print which usually appears in the margin.

The color nuance for the stamps on A paper is dull weak ultramarine-like violet and for those on B paper dark ultramarine-like violet and light weak ultramarine-like violet. The light nuance is uncommon.

The 1000. of which 509,500 were printed is also on A, B or Bz paper and its color is blue to dull blue.

The 1400 stamp of which 502,500 were printed is on A, B or Bz paper and is olive-like black to olive-like gray black in color. As in the case of the 200. the A paper is the most uncommon of the paper types for the 110 and 1400. values.

On some of the stamps — in all three denominations—there is outside the right-hand frame a plate scar (transfer scar) in the form of a short or long line which in some instances may run down the whole length of the stamp.

These ink lines were caused by the hard, sharp edge of the transfer roll. When the entries are made on the plate, this edge owing to the unevenness of the plate is dented, which causes elevations in the margins between the entries. In making the adjoining entry, the sharp edge of the transfer roll strikes these elevations and is pressed into them.

The result is a series of more or less regular lines which, like all other furrows, receive ink from the ink roller and pass it on to the paper.

Since the distance between the edge of the transfer roll and the outside edge of the pictorial part of the stamp may vary with different transfer rolls, these ink lines may appear at varying distances from the edge of the pictorial part of the stamp. In some cases they are on or immediately adjacent to this edge. They should not be mistaken for reinforcements of the frame of the stamp.

Peninsula Stamps

2480 Gonzaga Palo Alto, Calif.

3a—Shown here are the booklets containing stamps of 10 and 30 ore denomination together, which are currently available in stamp automats. Of the four detached plates, the upper two, which are imperforate on the upper edges, have been attached in the booklets in such a manner that the lower pair of stamps here was farthest in the booklet, whereas the two plates which are imperforate at the bottom have been affixed in the booklets with the upper pair closest to the booklet fold.

Development Of Booklet Panes By Swedish POD Provides Area For Interesting Specialization

Sven Akerstedt
Editor

During 1954 the Postal Administration began, as an experiment, to use automatic vending-machines, as well as the ordinary automatic machines which supplied stamps one at a time. The new automats supplied booklets containing a small number of stamps: a pane of 10 (2 x 5) of 10 ore denomination (costing one Swedish crown); a pane of 4 of 25 ore (costing one crown); or a pane of 8 (2 x 4) of the latter denomination (costing two crowns). The automats for the panes of 8 were later withdrawn while the others were kept in use.

Whereas the booklets had previously had covers of paper, the covers of those used in the automats were made of thin cardboard so that they could be more easily ejected. The 3 plus 3 pair combination of the 10 ore denomination from the automat booklets is identical to the corresponding pair from the ordinary booklets, as is the pair from the automat booklet containing the pane of eight 25 ore stamps.

The pane of four 25 ore stamps, however, exhibited a very characteristic difference from the others, for in connection with their manufacture, these panes were cut in such a way that the outermost pair in the booklet was not only imperforate on the vertical outer edges, but also on the edge which was closest to the lower edge of the booklet.

Since, for reasons connected with the manufacture, in half of the booklets the stamps were pasted in right side up, while the other half was fastened in upside down in relation to the booklet cover. There occur then two types of panes of 4 in the 25 ore denomination, viz. those which are cut along the bottom edge and those cut along the top edge of the pane.

The following pair combinations occur: a 3 plus 3 perforated pair; a 2 plus 2 perforated pair perforate only between the stamps and on the upper edge of the pane (from panes placed right side up in the booklets); and a 2 + 2 edged perforated pair perforate between the stamps and along the bottom edge (from panes placed upside down in the booklets).

The stamps of 25 ore denomination, from which the automat booklets containing panes of 4 were manufactured, were the 1954 profile of Gustaf VI Adolf in blue and the blue stamp from the series issued in 1955 to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the issue of the first Swedish postage stamps.

In order to differentiate the 2 plus 2 edged pairs from the automatic vending-machine booklets, the term "angle perforated pair" was coined, since in each stamp of such pairs there is perforation only on two edges adjoining, and thus at an angle to, each other.

The experiment with automat booklets proved successful. When the domestic postal rates were raised at the end of June 1957 from 15 to 20 ore for postcards and from 25 to 30 ore for letters of the first weight class, the Postal Administration wished not only to retain the automats already in use, but to greatly increase their number.

On the other hand, they were not adaptable to the new rates, 20 and 30 ore, as they were constructed to receive exactly one Swedish crown. Therefore it was necessary to adapt the contents of the booklets to a new principle, viz. that of including two denominations in the same pane of stamps. The result was two new automat booklets: (1) with one pane of 10 (2 x 5) of which the one vertical row consisted of 15 ore stamps, and the other of 5 ore; and (2) containing a pane of 4 of which one of the upper two stamps was of 10 ore denomination, while the other three were 30 ore.

The designs used were, for the 5 and 10 ore, the figure type which has been used for the 5 ore since 1951 and, for the 15 and 30 ore, the Gustaf VI Adolf type. In order

Swiss-Liechtenstein Catalog Well Revised

The Muller 1960 catalog for Switzerland and Liechtenstein evidences the close attention paid to listings by the fact that in it not a single figure had to be reduced from the 1959 quotation.

Instead, 5637 prices were revised upward to keep pace of the steady rises in popularity and value of the stamps of the two nations. These reflect market value at publication time.

The 256-page work is paper bound in a newly designed two-color cover featuring a stylized Basel dove. The printing is in German, with the admixture of numerous English sections making it readily understandable to the English reader. It is priced at $1 postpaid with special commemoratives, by the publisher, Ernst Muller, Basel Aeschenhof, Switzerland.

On application a separate unit with two key listings of Scott and Muller numbers, and vice versa, will be supplied free to catalog purchasers not already owning such lists.

to emphasize the difference between the two denominations in the same pane, since the printing press used to produce the stamps cannot print in two colors, the stamps of the figure type were engraved especially tightly in relation to the engraving of the others with the result that they appear considerably darker, although the color is exactly the same.

The 5 and 15 ore are both lightish red and the 10 and 30 ore, blue. The two booklets named are, up to now, the only ones containing a pane of two different denominations of stamps which have been issued.

As a result of the arrangement described above, there occur two horizontal pair combinations from the booklet of 5 and 15 ore, viz. 5 plus 15 and 15 plus 5 ore stamps. Also, there are four vertical pair combinations to be had from this type booklet, viz. two pairs of 5 ore stamps, the one imperforate on the right side, the other on the left, as well as similar vertical pairs of the 15 ore.

As regards the stamps in the most recently mentioned booklets with panes of 4, the situation is more complicated. These, like the previously mentioned 25 ore from automat booklets, exhibit angle perforations. It should be kept in mind, however, that in these recent automat booklets, the 10 ore is always located in the inner horizontal pair of the pane of 4, either to the left or right. The 10 ore stamp can, in other words, never exhibit angle perforation.

Nevertheless, from these booklets there are four different types of panes of 4 to be had, two of which are right side up and the other two upside down. If you place these four panes right side up in front of you, they present the following appearance: in one pane the 10 ore is located in the upper left-hand corner, in another in the upper right, and the lower horizontal pair in both of these panes exhibits angle perforations; in the third pane the 10 ore is in the lower left-hand corner, and in the fourth, in the lower right. Both the latter two panes exhibit angle perforations in the upper horizontal pair.

Since, in affixing stamps from these panes to mail, either horizontal or vertical pairs may be detached, following pair combinations can occur: (1) horizontal pairs of 30 plus 30 ore with imperforate sides and angle perforations including either the upper or lower edges and the inner sides, and 3 plus 3 perforate pairs in the combination 10 plus 30 or 30 plus 10 ore; (2) vertical pairs, 30 plus 30 ore imperforate either to the right or left, and with either the upper or lower stamp angle perforated, or the combinations 10 plus 30 or 30 plus 10 ore imperforate to the right or left and with the 30 ore stamp angle perforated.

Thus, the possible combinations include 4 horizontal pairs and 8 vertical ones, in all, 12 different.

This richness of variety is responsible for the fact that Swedish collectors, at least so far as unused stamps are concerned, always prefer to mount in their albums the four different panes of 4, which thus include all twelve of the pair combinations.

It costs a little to bring together a complete, unused collection of the Swedish pair combinations from 1938 to 1958. The price is, for the time being, still within the range of most collectors. The most expensive pairs are among those which come from the hand-made booklets and which thus occur in three pair combinations. However, in some cases pairs from the machine-made ones have also risen considerably in value.

The most expensive, unused pair combinations are 3 plus 4 edged and 4 plus 3 edged pairs of the 1939 10 ore depicting Gustaf V in right profile and in type II (i.e., with large numerals), which pairs are quoted at about 15 crowns apiece on the Swedish market.

The lowest quotations for commemorative pair combinations, no longer available from the post office, are found among certain 5 ore stamps which are quoted at about 25 to 30 ore a pair. The very cheapest pairs are of course those which are still available at the Post Office.

tal Administration's Philatelic Department in Stockholm. Bringing together a complete collection of pair combinations including only attractive stamps with perfect perforations and a single well-placed and clean cancellation is still a less expensive matter than is the case for the corresponding unused material. The task requires considerably more patience, since it can in many cases be a difficult matter to procure material of sufficiently high quality.

If we exclude stamp collectors, it is rather seldom that people have occasion to frank their letters with pair combinations, and when they do it is unusual for them to detach the pair with such care as to leave the perforations undamaged.

In addition, since a pair combination consists of two stamps, post office employees usually cancel the pair with two cancellations. A series of conditions must thus be fulfilled before a first-class pair combination can be discovered in ordinary correspondence, and it is the non-philatelic minded general public that is by far the greatest consumer of stamp booklets.

I have now come to the close of my account of the Swedish stamp booklets' pair combinations. It only remains to be said that this special branch at present includes more than a hundred different horizontal pairs. The number increases every year, mainly as a result of the issuance of commemoratives of which, as a rule, one or two denominations can be purchased in booklets each denomination thus calling for a pair combination.

If this article has aroused your interest in this Swedish specialty, I should like to advise you to procure, first of all, an unused collection, as that is easiest, and then gradually to build up, as well, an attractively canceled collection of used pairs.

Good Luck!

Philately In Sweden Highly Regarded And Well Organized;
Popularity Increasing Rapidly

Sven Akerstedt

Editor

Stamp collecting in Sweden is, as it is in most countries, a very widespread hobby which has attracted larger and larger groups of enthusiasts, especially during recent years. It is difficult, however, to gain any clear picture regarding the total number of stamp collectors in a country, since the bases for calculations are uncertain.

In addition to those who are members of some stamp association or club, there is always a rather large segment which is not engaged in club activities, although they may be stamp collectors throughout their lives.

Then there are those who collect stamps for some years, only to give up the hobby after a time, and who are replaced, more or less continually, by new devotees. Finally, we have that large category, the size and exact nature of which are so extremely difficult to determine, the junior collectors.

Probably, the stamp collectors in Sweden who are members of associations and clubs which are concerned only with stamp collecting, excluding school stamp clubs and the like, can be set at about ten thousand.

In an attempt to gain some idea of the total number of stamp collectors in the country, we may consult the official figures of the Post Office Department for the number of first day covers supplied on the occasion of each new issue. This source of information, though of some value, does not, of course, provide anything like exact knowledge.

A study of these figures shows that the average number of FDC's supplied during the five-year period from 1954 through 1958 was 50,000 per issue. This figure, however, is for a number of reasons too high, as there are included here a considerable though uncertain number of buyers who procure these covers as souvenirs for other than philatelic reasons.

If we keep this figure in mind, though, and note as well that the smallest FDC issues for this period were about 29,000; plus the fact that thousands of Swedish stamp collectors are not at all interested in FDC's, we may guess that the number of stamp collectors in the country is between thirty and thirty-five thousand.

Other sources of error in the equation, such as stocking of FDC's, purchases of them from abroad and the like may safely be reckoned as relatively insignificant for the final calculation. Outside this figure, however, there are certainly many junior collectors who feel that they cannot regularly afford to purchase FDC's.

The final result of the above calculations is thus that only one stamp collector of three in Sweden is a member of some association, but despite this fact, it is within the associations primarily that philately flourishes. Practically all the larger collectors belong to some organization, and the systematic study of philately is carried on almost exclusively by association members.

Among the philatelic organizations active in Sweden, The Swedish Philatelic Union (Sveriges Filatelist-Förbund) is by far the largest. The Union has at present about 50 local branches located in different parts of the country, and in addition approximately 20 more loosely attached units. Membership in the local associations alone numbers about 4000. (Formerly, this organization was named The Swedish Philatelic Society—Sveriges Filatelist-Förening).

Next largest in size are two other associations located in the capital but with members in all parts of the country. The Swedish Stamp-Trading Assn. ("Svenska Frimarkshandels-föreningen") and The Stamp Collector's Assn. ("Frimarkssamlaren") each number about 1000 members.

There are, as well, a number of societies with anywhere from some hundreds of members down to ten, 20 or 30 members each. These latter as a rule recruit their members from some city or town or from some particular part of the country.

Within all the associations, activity is generally very lively during the colder part of the year, whereas it stops almost completely during the summer months of June, July and August. This fact is reflected in the issuing of the Swedish philatelic journals.

This press, aside from a few publications issued by stamp-selling firms and a few membership papers sent out to members of smaller organizations, consists of two journals. Each puts out ten issues per year of which the June issue appears early in the month, while the next issue to appear, which opens the fall season, comes out during the first week of September.

The two journals referred to here are "The Swedish Philatelic Journal" (Svensk Filatelistisk Tidskrift) and "Scandinavian Philately" (Nordisk Filateli). The latter is a privately owned magazine which was started 22 years ago, while the former is owned by The Swedish Philatelic Union and, currently commencing its sixtieth year of publication, is the oldest philatelic journal in the country. The Swedish Philatelic Journal is, as well, not only Sweden's but all Scandinavia's largest philatelic magazine.

The Swedish Philatelic Union, which in its capacity as a member of Federation Internationale de Philately represents Swedish philately internationally, is able, due to its greater resources, to edit and publish most of the catalogues, manuals and the like describing Swedish postage stamps and postal stationery. It also engages in other publishing fields.

The specialized publications put out by the Union are of absolutely first-class character. In addition to these, there appear every now and then distinguished philatelic books published by the ordinary book publishing firms, an indication of the purchasing clientele that is served by this philatelic literature.

Almost all the stamp collectors' organizations, with the possible exception of the very smallest, have well-developed programs for circulating approval books for trading among members. Despite this fact, there is also room for quite a number of companies of varying sizes which engage in the selling of stamps within special circulation associations which they have organized and membership in which can be had free of charge or at a low annual rate.

If we add to this the fact that the postage stamp dealers' profession has a large number of members, who sell stamps for a total annual sum of several million Swedish Crowns, the reader will gain a clear impression of the scope and intensity of the stamp collecting hobby in Sweden. (The current official rate of exchange for the Swedish crown is approximately 20c to the Crown).

What, then, are the interests of Swedish stamp collectors? As is the case all over the world, the primary interest here is for the stamps and postal stationery of the mother country. Next in order of interest are the other three Scandinavian countries, Norway, Denmark and Iceland, plus Finland.

Then come certain other countries of Europe, such as Germany, France and Italy, plus the British Commonwealth and others. Collecting of modern U. S. stamps has greatly increased during recent years, whereas the very limited availability of the more classical issues, in good condition, restricts the collecting of these stamps to collectors with good incomes.

Since the war, collecting of special subject groups, such as ships, athletics, biology or other topicals has become very popular, while on the other hand the number of collectors of, for example, portrait stamps and airmail stamps has certainly decreased relatively, as a result of the all too large number of issues of such types.

The collecting of stamps from sources of special contemporary interest, such as Israel and the United Nations, and from new stamp countries, such as the United Arab Republic, Ghana and others, has also many devotees at the present time. But there are to be found in Sweden, as well, collectors in practically all categories.

We can observe, for example, that although prices for classical stamps from the older stamp issuing countries rise severely with each year that passes, interest in these stamps is by no means dying out, even though it is becoming increasingly difficult to procure them anywhere else than at the large, international auctions.

Thus, the circulation departments of the associations are obliged to make available material of an extremely wide variety and quality, in order to fully satisfy their members, and of course only the largest organizations are able to approach this ideal. These associations also supplement their circulation services with auctions of more unusual stamps submitted by members.

Despite these circulations activities and auctions, there is still adequate room for the stamp dealers. As has been indicated, they achieve sales figures totaling millions of Swedish Crowns annually.

The largest societies have special valuation committees to which the relatives of deceased members may resort for determining the value of a collection and even, via circulation activities and auctions, for selling the collection as advantageously as possible. They also have committees of experts for examining and judging stamps and postal stationery concerning which there is uncertainty or suspicion.

The programs of the various groups also include the arranging of national or local stamp exhibitions, and there are held annually several of the local type, designed primarily to serve as propaganda for stamp collecting.

National exhibitions, with or without a jury, occur less often, but recently such an exhibition was held in the Öresund city, Helsingborg. It was arranged by the local chapter there of The Swedish Philatelic Union, with the awarding of medals to those collections deemed worthy of representing Swedish philately at international competition.

The international philatelic exhibition is in most countries a once-in-a-lifetime event, and such is the case for Sweden. Here, following the international exhibition "Stockholm 55" which commemorated the 100th anniversary of the issuance of the first Swedish postage stamps in 1855, such an event can scarcely be expected again within the foreseeable future.

On the other hand, Swedish collec-

3 Skilling Banco Orange Rates With British Guiana No. 13

Gunnar Stenerudh

Director, Swedish Post Office Museum

Sweden's greatest philatelic rarity, the 3 skilling banco, by mistake printed in dim orange yellow color instead of green, is unique. It is cancellation marked Nya Kopparberget, July 13, 1857.

The skilling banco postage stamps were printed by means of frames in which were placed 100 blocks of the stamp image, ten rows with ten blocks in each. It happened accidentally in 1857, when the orange yellow 8sk. stamps were to be printed, that one block of the 3sk. was placed in the printing frame.

This resulted in a finished sheet containing one postage stamp with a 3sk. denomination, whereas the remaining 99 were of the correct 8sk. value.

That the color misprint has originated in this way is proved among other things by the fact that it is of the same color shade as the 8sk. issue of 1857, and also printed on paper of medium thickness (.08mm), whereas the 3sk. stamps are exclusively printed on thin paper.

As the stamp was later used as postage, it was alone on a letter, which proves that it was used as an 8sk. stamp and not as a three, which was only supplementary postage.

Only one single postage stamp of this type has been found, which should indicate that already at an early stage, the misprint was discovered and the issue withdrawn. Nothing, however, is known with certainty about this.

Regarding the yellow 3sk. it was told by its first owner, the late Col. G. W. Backman, that during the Christmas holidays in 1885 he visited his grandmother. He was then 13 years old. To please him, his grandmother opened an old chest to see if there among the papers of her late husband might be some letters with stamps.

There were several old stamps, even some of the skilling banco issues of different denominations, but only one with 3sk. face value. This stamp was fixed on blue writing paper and was of yellowish color. The lad got all the stamps.

The following year Backman sold the yellow 3sk. to a stamp dealer in Stockholm, H. Lichtenstein, and received 7Kr. for it, an amount which was at that time no doubt quite a considerable contribution to the pocket money of a schoolboy.

Col. Backman went on telling, that shortly after he had sold the stamp, he read in a Swedish paper about a stamp exhibition in Stockholm arranged by Mr. Lichtenstein. In the notice in the paper it was related with great enthusiasm about a recently discovered 3sk. stamp of yellow instead of green color. Lichtenstein had been offered 300Kr. for it, but was not thinking of parting with it, as he said, "It will some day reach an extremely high price."

And this is what the Swedish stamp rarity has actually done. Each time it has changed owner, and that has happened several times, the price has gone up. Lichtenstein sold it in the early part of the 1890's to Sigmund Friedl in Vienna at 400 Florins.

It was sold in 1894 to the greatest stamp collector of that time, Count Ferrari and remained in his possession as long as he lived. After his death the stamp was sold for 30,000 francs at an auction in Paris in 1922 to Count E. Leijonhufvud in London, who disposed of the rarity some years later to the engineer C. Tamm.

He sold it in turn to a lawyer J. Ramberg at a price, huge for that time, of 37,500Kr. In 1937 the prize was acquired by King Carol of Roumania for a sum of approximately 90,000Kr. After his death in 1953 it was taken over by a concern and is said to be kept at this time in Sweden.

According to a notice in a Swedish paper in May this year, the price is at present about 300,000 Kr.—quite a considerable rise in price since it was sold for the first time by the young schoolboy at 7Kr. The prediction by the man who bought it was certainly correct—300,000Kr. adds up to something like $57,900 U.S.

tors have for many years entered their collections at international exhibitions in other countries. Particularly during the period following the second World War, a long list of Swedish entries won notable prizes, in one case even the "grand prix" of the exhibition.

A very important aspect of an association's program is the work with junior collectors. Here, however, as in most other countries, this branch of activity is limited. This is due to the lack of a sufficient number of youth leaders who possess both knowledge of the subject and the ability to inspire and sustain interest in philately among young people in the face of other vital movements such as sport and competitive athletics.

Despite difficulties, however, there is a flourishing youth program in many of the places where philatelic societies are active.

Most of the larger Swedish stamp associations possess excellent philatelic libraries, in some cases with collections of fakes and forgeries and with guides for determining color varieties for specialist collectors of Swedish stamps. Those who wish to engage in philatelic research, however, have possibilities for study here which are equaled in few other countries, namely the Postal Museum.

This is located in Stockholm and is under the administration of the Post Office Department. Fine treasures have been gathered here during the half century that the museum has existed. The library of the museum, with its well over 20,000 volumes, is surely one of the very finest philatelic libraries in the world.

By means of trading, through purchases and perhaps most of all thanks to a large number of valuable donations, the library has witnessed the growth and development of the many top-class stamp collections which are now in its possession.

The greatest benefactor of the Postal Museum through the years has been the now deceased Col. Hans Lagerlof, of New York, who with his more than 20 separate donations presented the museum with superb collections of stamps from a long row of countries. All cases included many rarities, among which two Mauritius "post office" stamps are brilliant high points.

The Museum is thus superbly equipped to serve as a natural center for philatelic studies in Sweden. It also contributes to philatelic activities with entries at exhibitions of different kinds, through its issuance both of a yearbook and of a distinguished series of publications consisting primarily of philatelic works in specialized fields, by the production and lending of films about stamps and postal activity, and in other ways.

There is an association, Friends of the Postal Museum (Postmusei Vänner) which cooperates closely with the museum and whose primary function is to work for the enrichment of the Museum's collections.

One other institution of importance to Swedish philately has during the past few years gained a position well worthy of notice. The previously mentioned international philatelic exhibition, "Stockholmia '55", was arranged jointly by the Post Office Department and the Swedish Philatelic Union. It was decided, with the approval of national administrative authorities, that any profit from the exhibition would be placed at the disposal of philately.

The exhibition was a success, and the profit amounted to about 250,000 Swedish Crowns (approximately $50,000, at the current official rate of exchange). For the administration of these funds, there was created after the close of the exhibition a foundation named The Stockholmia '55 Foundation (Stiftelsen Stockholmia '55).

The function of the Foundation is to award grants annually from the interest on the capital in the fund for different projects designed to support philatelic activity, such items, among others, as contributions to lecturing and authorship. Thus, the Foundation made grants in 1957 for a total sum of about 10,000 Swedish Crowns ($2000).

Thus stamp collecting in Sweden,

South African Antarctic Stamp

The Postmaster General of the Union of South Africa has announced that a specially designed 3d stamp will be issued November 16 to commemorate the South African National Antarctic Expedition which leaves Cape Town November 28.

The main theme of the design is a globe tilted to show South Africa in outline and the South Polar region. A dotted line stretching from Cape Town to the area concerned, indicates the approximate route to the locality of the base.

The letters "SANAE" in the lower portion stand for South African National Antarctic Expedition. The stamps will be printed in vertical format in sheets of 120. The wording on each stamp will be in English and Afrikaans. A specially designed datestamp will be used at the base.

Orders for the servicing of first day covers and for unused stamps must be addressed to Philatelic Services, Publicity Branch, G. P. O., Pretoria, South Africa, and must arrive not later than November 14. Envelopes will not be provided by the Post Office, or purchased from outside sources on behalf of applicants. Persons desirous of having covers serviced must therefore forward their own addressed envelopes. Requests for more than one particular postmark on an envelope will not be entertained.

Remittances must be made by international money order, bank draft, or British postal order made payable to the Postmaster General, Pretoria. Those in respect of orders for unused postage stamps must include an amount for return postage and registration. Cheques, foreign bank notes and foreign coin will not be accepted.

already lively in the past, with additional support and impetus from The Stockholmia '55 Foundation, as well as from the Postal Museum, now has every prospect for a continued successful development during coming years. And in this development the philatelic associations with their activities will, as they have in the past, play a leading roll.

THE MOST IMPORTANT MEANS for the emigrant to maintain contact with the old country has always been the post, and even today "the letter from America" remains a phrase to make the native Swede's heart flutter in a very special way. When Sweden issued a set of stamps in 1958 to note seapost communications which have existed across the North Atlantic for centuries she chose the "Gripsholm", pride of the Swedish-American line for the design. This liner covers the same Sweden-America route as did the "Calmare Nyckel" of earlier days—and rather more rapidly and comfortably.

Early Swedish Settlers In U.S.
Brought Religious Convictions

In 1948 the centennial was celebrated of the foundation of the first Lutheran parish in the United States middle-west. In this connection the Swedish Post Office Department issued a set of four stamps commemorating the centennial of the first Swedish settlers in that region.

Designed by Ollie Hjortberg and engraved by Sven Evert, 15 and 30 ore and 1 Krona values depict a pioneer Swedish-American plow-man turning a furrow against a background of his 1848 cabin and a 1948 skyscraper. Day of issue was April 26, 1948.

The first attempt towards founding a religious community there was made by Swedish Lutherans in 1848.
They were a group of immigrants coming from Ostergotland, Sweden
to New Sweden, Iowa. They established a Lutheran congregation and appointed a layman, M. F. Hakan-son, who was later ordained, to confer the sacrament and preach the words of God.

Two years later the Swedish Lutheran parish at Andover was inaugurated by the pastor, L. P. Esbjorn, who had, at the request of the Swedish Missionary Society, accompanied a group of immigrants, numbering about 140, from Gestrikland and Helsingland.

As a rector, Esbjorn received an allowance from an American missionary society in New York. He collected in the eastern states $2200 for Andover's first church; $1500 more was donated by the celebrated Swedish singer, Jenny Lind.

On the first Advent in 1854 the church was inaugurated. This parish was later to be regarded as the mother-community of the Augustana synod.

In Minnesota the Swedes arrived in 1851, and the first Swedish Lutheran parish was established in 1854
at Chicago Lake by Pastor E. Carlson, who was also the founder of parishes in Indiana and Michigan.

In 1851, Pastor Esbjorn and his parish joined the North-Illinois Synod. In 1852 this synod established in Springfield a theological college, Illinois State University, where a Scandinavian faculty was established, which from 1858 was headed by Pastor Esbjorn as a professor.

Some of the oldest clergymen of the Augustana Synod received their education here. When Esbjorn in 1860 left Springfield, nearly all the Scandinavian students followed him.

Esbjorn's break with the Illinois-Synod was the primary reason for the foundation of the Augustana Synod, which took place at Clinton, Wis.

on June 5, 1860. The Synod comprised 36 Swedish and 13 Norwegian parishes, with an aggregated 4967 congregational members.

The organization was based primarily on the Holy Scriptures and
"the genuine Augsburg confession as a brief but true compilation of the principal learning of Christianity, as understood in accordance with the interpretation employed in other symbolic books of the Lutheran Church". In 1890 the Norwegian parishes retired from the Synod.

The theological college of the Synod in the beginning was in Chicago but in 1863 was transferred to Paxton, Ill. under the name of Augustana College and Theological Seminary. In 1875 the school moved to Rock Island.

The Augustana Synod is an affiliate of the Swedish Church. The men, who are regarded as the founders of the Synod and supporters, were ordained in the Swedish Church and a common ritual and hymnbook was even up to our days constituted a fervent link between mother and daughter church.

Precancel NEWS
Kenneth M. Gierhart
121 E. Cliff St.
Baltimore, Ohio
THEY ASKED FOR IT

It was a foregone conclusion from the very start of Postal and Philatelic activities at the United Nations citadel that every phase—no matter how remotely connected—would come within the scope of most collectors of this entity. Whether postmarks, postal stationery, changes in glue, selvage imprints, different papers, anything fact or imagined would be important.

So when the 1½c UN precancel came into existence in 1952 it was taken up quickly. The stamp as listed by Scott is Type A2, No. 2. Soon it became apparent that no provision was made for the great following of collectors to obtain specimens for their collections.

A few of the recovered stamps came on the market in due time and prices varied from $2 to just how high I would hate to guess. As time went on a few more mailings were made but not nearly enough of the stamps to satisfy the market.

Although precancel collectors pay no regard to gum and never have,
those who collected UN both used and mint were searching for the precancels MINT.

The UN officials followed the same giddy pattern laid out by U.S. postal officials in the handling of these precancels. With only one office to control or check it would have been an easy matter to sell these pre-cancels to the many UN patrons and surely no loss of postal revenue could have resulted.

Remember Canada and France sell their precancels readily, and neither of these countries would do this if its postal revenues were affected. No other reason then holds water in "explaining" why the UN (and other) officials did not and will not sell these stamps to collectors.

So things were on, and as in the case in almost every instance where such circumstances are prevalent something had to happen. In fact two things happened. Which was first I am not in position to say.
Some sheets leaked out and some were counterfeited. Again, I cannot say which of these was in the larger quantity.

The UN officials want us to believe that there are more good items around than these officials want to admit—this for the age-old human trait of saving face. This fact remains, that in both instances the UN officials asked for what happened: the leaking out of sheets and the counterfeiting of the overprint.

There are a few afterthoughts. One is that the stamps that leaked out not necessarily were stolen, but could just as easily have been paid for. Another is that right now there supposedly are still 225,000 UN pre-cancels in the vaults. This is enough for a block and single for 45,000 collectors. Why not sell these adhesives now? Are there that many UN collectors?

For the layman trying to tell the difference, in the original, which was letterpress printed, and the counterfeit which was offset printed, a clue is in the "I" of "UNITED". In the originals the "I" is taller. In the counterfeit it barely comes up to the top horizontal stroke of the "T".

It's the top of the "I" where you make the comparison. We do not believe that the whole story is told on these things and it may not be for a long time to come. Maybe sometime about 1980 the stamp papers will carry a line like this: "The true story and facts of the famous 1½c UN Precancel".

BRITISH COMMONWEALTH REVIEW
Francis J. McCall
2725 29th St., N.W.,
Washington 8, D. C.

Pakistan—The 6 anna value of the 1955 definitives was used to overprint "Revolution Day October 27, 1959" in three lines. The overprint was applied with red ink by the letterpress process to 700,000 stamps.
They will remain on sale until stocks are exhausted.

The announced number of new stamps being issued is rather small. Interested collectors of British Asia should arrange for their requirements immediately, lest they be caught short. The last overprint issued by Pakistan was the popular United Nations set of 1955. (Pakistan Posts and Telegraphs Department).

Great Britain—A few people have been privileged to see in operation,
the United States Post Office Department innovations with automatic mail sorting. The main post office near Union Station here in Washington has been the scene of many impressive experiments, designed to speed the handling and routing of mail.

The British too are well aware of the importance of such methods as the recent news items attest. In the next few weeks the United Kingdom's Post Office will be making tests connected with the development of automatic letter sorting.
Several thousand letters passing through the post will be marked in "machine language" with sorting marks which will consist of lines of small, whitish dots.

Barely visible, they will appear on the front of the envelopes. They will be impressed on batches of letters picked at random from the ordinary stream of mail. The purpose of these tests is to try on real letters going through the post some of the code-marking techniques evolved in the laboratory.

The second item deals with postal address codes in the experiment already begun in Norwich, Suffolk.
This city has been chosen because there are now eight letter sorting machines in regular use there. They have been adapted so that the operator will simply have to copy on his keyboard the codes written on the envelopes.

The Norwich postal district covers every address which includes Norwich, Norfolk. The postal code for few 2c envelopes appearing. There were plenty of the 1½c envelopes when that was the rate. The only 2c ones we saw had some collector connection until last week when in a batch of covers was a 2c oval envelope precanceled Langhorne, Pa. It was imprinted "Bulk Rate", too.

In the same mail we had a note from Harold B. Crimm of Oakdale, Pa. telling us about a 2c envelope from Greensburg, Pa. You can be pretty sure both of these are regular commercial users.

Other interesting items in my lot were a 1c oval from Bristol, Pa.
(Non-profit imprint) and 1c oval from Levittown, Pa. (Non-profit). Also in the lot were four varieties from Philadelphia. Some are common but one of them might be scarce in time.

The first was the old round 1c with Sec. 34.66 imprint. Next was the new oval 1c with 39 C.F.R. 35.65
(e) imprint. What does the "C.F.R."
mean, you students of the Postal Rules and Regulations?

Next item was 1c oval with Sec.
34.65 (e), P.L.&R. imprint, and the last was the oval 1c with the Non-profit legend. Remember, keep your precanceled envelopes entire. They may be bulky, but few like them anymore cut down to 2 x 4 size.

the Norwich district will take the form of three letters NOR, representing Norwich, followed by two figures and one letter in that order representing a street, a part of a street, a village in the country districts or a firm which receives heavy deliveries. (G.P., London).

In this country we use a number after the town or city to indicate a postal district. For example, mail addressed to your column marked Washington 8, comes to the Cleveland Park substation of the Washington post office. There it is hand sorted in accordance with the office scheme of streets and numbers.

Norwich is going one step further in automation by eliminating the hand sorting at the substation. The code NOR 22K, for instance, will enable the keyboard operator at the main office to sort the letter to the exact carrier's route in the substation.

Gibraltar—The 1938 KGVI definitive set contains two values, 1d chestnut and 2d gray, which are known with watermarks sideways as well as normal. The sideways wmk of Scott Nos. 108 and 110, (Minkus
No. 109 and 112) indicate their use as coils. The 2d gray with such wmk and perf 13½ comb is priced in the Commonwealth Catalogue at 25 Pounds mint and 10/- used—and is worth every penny. It is a really scarce item.

Auction Prices—A few items chosen at random from a New York
September sale show: Ireland No.
37 mint, cat $25 went for $15; Jamaica No. 30 used, cat $12.50 brought $8.50; Montserrat No. 7 used, cat $12.50 fetched $7.50; an off-center copy of New Britain No. 12 mint, cat $110 sold for $60; and Newfoundland No. 21 mint, cat $11 brought $7.

Inverted Watermarks—Our list continues to grow. Dale Thomas, Porterville, Calif. reports New South Wales Nos. 78 and 103, and Victoria
No. 196; C. A. Prine, Oshkosh, Wis. has New South Wales No. 99 and more important Great Britain No.
263 which was not issued in booklet form.

An old corresponding friend, Michael Lotta, Coraopolis, Pa., who uses a Gibbons catalogue sends a list, which when transposed turn out to be Australia Scott No. 116 which is probably from a booklet, and South Africa Nos. 62 and 106. Keep them coming!!

Official Comment On Weishaupt Fine

The final disposition of the prosecution recently directed against New York dealer Kurt Weishaupt by the Foreign Assets Control division of the United States Treasury Department has now been clearly delineated by an official of that body.

Collectors will remember that various philatelic publications have mentioned only a fine of about $100 on a minor charge, while Linn's of September 14 gave the figure as $5100 covering two penalties. It now develops that even this report, taken from a New York newspaper, was incomplete.

In its October 25 issue, "The Stamp Wholesaler" of Burlington, Vt. quotes the following Treasury Department comment on the case and on the published reports of its outcome:

"In connection with the recent conviction in the United States District Court at Brooklyn, New York, of Kurt Weishaupt and Kurt Weishaupt and Co. for illegal dealings in mainland Chinese postage stamps in violation of the Foreign Assets Control Regulations it has come to our attention that certain philatelic publications published an incomplete account of the penalties imposed on the defendants and an inaccurate description of the relevant regulations.

"The publications in question mentioned the criminal fines of $5000 and $100 imposed on Mr. Weishaupt and Kurt Weishaupt and Co., respectively, on their pleas of guilty, but failed to mention that the defendants paid $12,000 in settlement of their civil liability and, in addition, consented to the forfeiture of mainland Chinese stamps valued at approximately $5000.

"The accounts which came to our notice were inaccurate in that they made it appear that only dealings in Communist Chinese stamps are prohibited by the Foreign Assets Control Regulations whereas, in fact, the Regulations prohibit the uncensored purchase abroad or the importation of all stamps of Chinese (except Formosan) origin, regardless of whether they were issued after the Communists gained control of mainland China or during any earlier period, and regardless of the country from which they are imported. Thus a stamp issued in mainland China in 1910 and now physically located in England cannot be purchased or imported into the United States without a Treasury Department license. This and other aspects of the relevant prohibitions were explained in our letters to you dated October 16, 1957, November 1, 1957,

Metropolitan GTA Society In New Home

The Metropolitan New York Chapter No. 1 of the Ghana-Togo-African Philatelic Society now has a permanent meeting place—Adelphi Hall, 74 5th Ave., just south of 14th St. The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. November 17.

It will feature a swap session under the direction of Chapter President Herbert Millwater. Some free Ghana literature will be available, and there will be several attractive door prizes.

Collectors interested in the philately of the independent African states, particularly that of Ghana, are especially welcome.

Southeast Asia Movie Trip At Waukegan Club

Armchair globetrotters will be strictly on their own at the November 10 meeting of the Lake County Philatelic Society, Waukegan, Ill. Members will display philatelic material from Southeast Asia, after which a travel film of that part of the world will be shown.

Meetings are held in the "Little Fort Bank" clubroom, 2323 Grand Ave., Waukegan, Ill.

Armistice Day Surprise Program At Atlanta Club

A surprise program has been planned for the next meeting of the Atlanta U. S. Stamp Club, and the public is invited.

It will be held at 7:30 p.m. November 11 at 27 8th St. NE, Atlanta, Ga. Many club members collect other than U. S. material.

and March 4, 1958, copies of which are enclosed for your convenience. (Editor's note: These were published correctly in Linn's of October 28 and November 18, 1957 and March 24, 1958, with the Department's initial warning in the July 29, 1957 issue).

"We understand that your publication is widely read by dealers in postage stamps. If you have not yet published an account of the Weishaupt case, or if your own account was incomplete as to the penalties or inaccurate as to the provisions of the law, we believe it would have an important salutary and educational effect if you would include in an early issue of your publication an accurate statement of the penalties and relevant regulations.

Cleary Brothers, 44 Chaffee Ave., New York 65, report they will be operating on limited schedule for the month of November, and completely shut down during December, in order to make a trip abroad. The firm which specializes in U.S., Great Britain and Ireland issues will resume full-scale activities after the Christmas holidays, with new special offers.

Priced at only 25c stamps or coin is the first Greek 20th century specialty price list to be offered collectors in a long time. It is available from Pierson Ostrow, Box 57, Burlington, Vt. The booklet gives the usual information about the many Greek issues, plus considerable more not generally available. Mint and used, and specialty material, are offered.

The mint airport collection formed by Dwight James Baum constitutes a major portion of the November 10 auction of the Nicklin Co., 110 W. 42nd St., New York 36, N.Y. All the material was acquired at the time of issue and is especially interesting in this respect. A second note of concern is that the stamps are expected to realize three times first cost.

The H & H Stamp Co. which ran the big liquidation sale ad on the back page of last week's Linn's reports the accidental omission of a very important paragraph from that copy: The big $25 bargain lots may be bought on the lay-away plan as well as for cash, with $5 holding a lot for 30-60 days for completion of the purchase price. Collectors are urged to check the big ad again.

Classified advertiser Marshall, Box 451-M, Long Beach, Calif. reports that his recent "Japanese airmails, high values" offer contains a printer's error that is causing disappointment to many well-intentioned collectors. The offer of 2000 stamps from listed countries is correctly priced at $4 rather than the erroneous lower figure in his offers in the October 19 and 26 issues.

LINN'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. P. O. BOX 29 Sidney, Ohio

Stamp Activity On Spanish Front

A decidedly unusual first day of sale is reported by Carlos Lenze, Barquillo 29, Madrid, Spain in his most recent summation of philatelic activity in that area. October 15 was the scheduled issue date at the Madrid Post Office for the nine Spanish Sahara birds set.

On that day, Mr. Lenze reports, would-be purchasers were greeted with a sign announcing that all stamps had been sold out to advance dealers' orders, and that eight values—without the top one—would be available beginning October 26. These advance orders, incidentally, involve a premium payment of 2% over face.

A hurried airmail order to his agent at Aaiun, Spanish Sahara, brought the refund of Mr. Lenze's remittance along with the news that only 400 complete sets of the nine adhesives had been sent to the colony. The rest, subsequent investigation disclosed, had been well cornered.

Mr. Lenze continued that three days after day of issue he was offered a thousand complete sets at slightly over three times face. He and many other ethical dealers are therefore unable to care for their new issue clients at the usual small mark-up as far as this issue is concerned.

They (including him) will be able to supply only the first eight values, depending on their availability after the promised October 26 release date.

A new adhesive appeared as a surprise to Spanish collectors October 24 in the form of a one Peseta orange red commem with golden frame. In an edition of five million copies, it is valid for any type of postage service. The stamp notes the 300th anniversary of the Peace of the Pyrenees, the border between France and Spain. The design is part of a tapestry by Lebrun in the castle at Versailles.

Two "new countries" will soon appear in what is now Spanish Guinea, according to Mr. Lenze. The region is to be divided into the provinces of Fernando Poo (the island portion) and Rio Muni (the area on the mainland). Official notice of the impending change was published October 17, in the form of a decree of October 7.

Thus the future Charity sets will number four—Fernando Poo, Rio Muni, Ifni, and Spanish Sahara. Values will be 10c plus 5c, 15c plus 5c, 35c, and 80c.

Designs will include the composer Falla and allegories of two of his compositions; three varieties of flowers: a camel, boar and partridge; and the author Quevedo and allegories from two plays, for the four areas in order.

The 12 designs will be selected through a public competition of Spanish artists; day of issue is scheduled as June 1, 1960.
